Cloud Solutions – Microsoft Office 365

Requirement

When Derek Rose approached BTA, their network was in desperate need of a refresh. The business had been running its email and data on a Microsoft Small Business Server located in their London office, and it was quickly coming to the end of its life. They were experiencing intermittent problems with the server hardware reliability, which was impacting operations.

Derek Rose wanted a new IT solution that would work well for both the UK offices and their global work force, particularly a resilient email and communications infrastructure that would be always be "on" and accessible from any location, on any device.

Solution

Flexible global working for everyone.

BTA proposed the Microsoft Office 365 cloud services solution, which was successfully rolled out across the company's operations worldwide with minimal disruption. This provided Derek Rose with a truly global, resilient email and collaborative communications infrastructure with little capital investment. Now Derek Rose benefit from an email solution that services both their Apple and Microsoft users in all countries, with no limitations or risk of becoming outdated.
